

2nd Cyprus Energy Symposium

Nicosia, March 14-15, 2013 - Cyprus Hilton Hotel

The Institute of Energy for SE Europe (IENE), in co-operation with the Nicosia-based media company FMW - Financial Media Way, is organizing the 2nd Cyprus Energy Symposium, on March 14-15, 2013, in the capital of Cyprus at the Cyprus Hilton Hotel.

Following the successful 1st Cyprus Energy Symposium, which took place last January, the 2nd Symposium will focus on the «Energy Resources of Cyprus and the New Situation in Eastern Mediterranean». The Symposium will cover energy policy, natural gas, oil, electricity and Renewable Energy Sources.

The President-elect of Cyprus, just within a month after his election, will be the invited speaker at the official Symposium dinner on March 14. The agenda of the second day (March 15) of the Symposium will cover mainly technical and economic issues related to the Cyprus energy sector.

The energy strategy on the research and exploitation of hydrocarbons, the regional oil and gas market, the electricity market, as well as Renewable Energy Sources (RES) and energy efficiency, will be the main topics of the 2nd Cyprus Energy Symposium.

The provisional agenda of the Symposium, which is to be held under the auspices of the Cyprus Chamber of Commerce and Industry (CCCI) will include the following:

- The new energy strategy of Cyprus within the framework of the 2020 EU targets.
- The outlook for natural gas exploration and production in Cyprus, the new energy mix and the geopolitical implications for the region
- Presentations by the companies that have obtained exploration licenses in the blocks of the Cypriot EEZ
- The electricity market in Cyprus and international interconnections
- RES, co-generation and energy efficiency in Cyprus

Apart from the President of the Republic of Cyprus, the leaders of Cypriot political parties, ministers from the governments of Cyprus, Israel and Greece, representatives from public and private companies and organizations from both countries, academics and professionals from the energy field are expected to attend the 2nd Cyprus Energy Symposium.

More than 25 speakers and panellists are expected to participate and cover a wide range of topics on energy resources and applications.

The Symposium's full programme, as well as information on sponsoring opportunities, will soon be announced.
